Training Program for Kosovo Telecommunications Regulatory Authority

TMG and decision/analysis partners were selected by the U.S. Trade and Development Agency (USTDA) to host and conduct a 10-day training program for the Kosovo Telecommunications Regulatory Authority (TRA) in the Washington, DC metropolitan area. The comprehensive program will address current trends and international best practices on subjects including the roles and functions of the telecommunications regulator; challenges in implementing effective regulation; interconnection; dispute resolution and enforcement; policies, strategies and regulation of liberalized markets; spectrum management; infrastructure management; and digital broadcasting and other technology innovations. The training program will also offer interactive and breakout sessions on several specific technical, economic and legal subjects, and will include meetings with representatives from key telecommunications stakeholders in the U.S. government and private sector.
